Acquisition Information: Accession 1965.25. Donation from Jean S. Gregory, 1965.

Processor and Date: Amber K. King, August 2010, August 2011

Processing Note: Found in general notes with other non-archival materials related to both Stephen and Tappan Gregory. Possibly these materials had been pulled together for possible biographical research and/or biographical publication. Materials are separated by brother, then arranged chronologically within each sub-series, except for correspondence which is alphabetical by last name and then chronological. Photographic materials are sorted by base type and stored separately from the paper materials in RVWD.302 Film Room.

Some of the materials were produced during administrative work of the Chicago Academy of Sciences. Most of the acetate and nitrate negatives in this collection have not been inventoried and are currently housed in freezer storage. This has been done to help stabilize the media and slow further deterioration. Those elements in freezer storage have not been thoroughly inventoried and are currently not accessible to the general public.

Biographical Sketch: Stephen S. Gregory, Jr. (1888-1964) and A. Tappan Gregory (1886-1961) were brothers who possessed a love and desire to study nature. Stephen was born on May 20, 1888, in Chicago, Illinois. He received his A.B. from Yale University in 1911 and then received his M.E. from the University of Wisconsin in 1913. He worked as a professional investment advisor, forming and then becoming president of the firm of Gregory, De Long and Holt, Inc.

His interest in ornithology began early, with notes on bird migration, and continued with him throughout his lifetime. He began his study collection 1919, when he shot his first bird, a Clapper Rail, in Mississippi. From then on he developed his own collection as he could and purchased specimens, or entire collections, from other collectors, notably Ruthven Deane, Benjamin T. Gault, and Charles D. Klotz. His entire collection numbered 4,000 birds at his death. His wife donated most of the collection to the Chicago Academy of Sciences, but 240 of the skins from Michigan, primarily the Huron Mountain region, were donated to the Museum of Zoology of the University of Michigan.

He was also extremely active in various scientific organizations. He had a long-standing relationship with the American Ornithological Union (AOU), which started in 1906. He used his business interests to serve the organization, serving on various financial committees from 1943-1960. He was a founding member of the Kennicott Club at the Chicago Academy of Sciences which, with his brother Tappan. Other organizations with which he was associated are the Chicago Ornithological Society, The Illinois Audubon Society, the Wilson Ornithological Society, the Cooper Ornithological Society, and the American Society of Mammalogists.

Tappan Gregory, like his brother Stephen, was devoted to natural studies, but professionally followed in his father's footsteps and became a lawyer. He received his A.B. from Yale University in 1910 and his L.L.B from Northwestern University in 1912. He practiced law in the firm of Bayley, Webster, Gregory, and Hunter which later became Gregory, Gilruth, and Hunter. He was the president of the Chicago Bar Association from 1939-1940, the Illinois State Bar Association from 1945-1946, and the American Bar Association from 1947-1948. He only stopped practicing law during World War I. From 1917-1919 he served in the army as a 1st Lieutenant in the 313th Field Artillery in the American Expeditionary Forces.

In addition to his work in the law, Tappan was a successful mammalogist and nature photographer. He blended his love of photography with his mammal research and was one of the first photographers to use "self-portrait flash photography" to capture the movement of animals in the wild. Like his brother he developed his own mammal skin collection which he donated to the Chicago Academy of Sciences in 1961 upon his death. Among his numerous publications are: Deer at Night in the North Woods 1930, "Mammals of the Chicago Region," Program of Activities of the Chicago Academy of Sciences, Vol. 7, Nos. 2-3, July 1936, Eyes in the Night 1939, "Lion in the Carmens," The Chicago Naturalist, Vol. 1, No. 3, 1938, and numerous articles on mammalogy and photography in various journals and magazines. Utilizing his photographic expertise he even served as an observer and photographer at the Nuremberg Trials in 1946.

He was a member of numerous organizations outside of those related to his work as a lawyer. With his brother Stephen, he was a founding member of the Kennicott Club at the Chicago Academy of Sciences. He also served as a Scientific Governor and Honorary Curator of Mammalogy for the Academy. Other organizations of note are the Izaak Walton League of America, the Photographic Society of America, the American Ornithological Union, the American Forestry Association, the American Society of Mammalogists, and the National Wildlife Federation.

Scope and Content: This collection contains paper materials primarily in the form of letters from both Stephen and Tappan. Stephen Gregory's papers also contain original field notes and journals about some of his collecting trips. Tappan Gregory's papers are primarily related to the Chicago Academy of Sciences and mostly not related to his field work. All of the materials relating to photography or the photographic media themselves are mostly examples of the "self-portrait" wildlife photography that he developed. The glass plates and a small sample of acetate-based film have been inventoried. However, many acetate and all the nitrate negatives of Tappan Gregory are in freezer storage and still need to be inventoried.

Series Description:

Series 1: Stephen S. Gregory, Jr. (1879-1964, undated)

This series contains materials related to Stephen S. Gregory, Jr. It is divided into two sub-series: Personal and Specimen Collecting. Sub-series 1: Personal, contains some materials from when he was in grammar school, correspondence in the form of letters, personal writings, and materials, publications and newspaper clippings related to his father Stephen S. Gregory, Sr. Sub-series 2: Specimen Collecting contains field notes and one field journal about specimens collected primarily in the Illinois and Michigan areas. It also contains a journal of all bird specimens he collected or received/purchased from other collectors.

Series 2: A. Tappan Gregory (1936-1959, undated)

This series contains all materials related to Tappan Gregory. It is divided into thirteen sub-series: Personal; Chicago Academy of Sciences; Photographic Envelopes, Matched Glass Plate; Photographic Envelopes, Matched Nitrate; Photographic Envelopes, Matched Acetate; Photographs; Photographic Prints; Acetate Negatives; Glass Plate Negatives, 4"x5"; Glass Plate Transparencies, 4"x5"; Glass Plate Negatives, 3.25"x4.25"; Glass Plate Transparencies, 3.25"x4.25"; Glass Plate Negatives, Non-standard; and Glass Plate Negatives, 5"x7". Sub-series 1: Personal, contains an announcement related to his law firm, Christmas cards that show samples of his "self-portrait flash photography" of mammals at night, and copies of some of his publications and one unpublished article. It also contains a certificate from the U.S. Navy thanking him for his contribution to the "Eyes for the Navy" program active during World War I. Sub-series 2: Chicago Academy of Sciences contains correspondence in the form of letters with Dr. Alfred M. Bailey, Dr. William Beecher, Dr. William K. Gloyd, and Dr. Eliot C. Williams Jr. with a few miscellaneous letters. It also contains some biographical information developed by the Academy about Tappan, one publication about the Officers of the Academy from 1941, and two lists of images taken by Tappan. Sub-series 3 through 5: Photographic Envelopes, Matched (glass plate, nitrate, and acetate) contain the paper envelopes from various negatives and transparencies found in Sub-series 6 and Sub-series 7-12. These sub-series contain the written record of the metadata associated with his photography. They are sorted by film type (glass plate, nitrate, and acetate) and then by subject headers. Sub-series 6: Photographic Prints includes a photo of Tappan and some examples of his nature photography. Sub-series 7: Acetate Negatives contains images from his nature photography. Many of these negatives are housed in freezer storage and are thus currently inaccessible to the general public. Sub-series 8 through 13: Glass Plate Negatives and Transparencies (4"x5". 3.25"x4.25", Non-standard, and 5"x7") contain negatives and transparencies taken by Tappan that have a glass base. These images mostly consist of his "self-portrait" wildlife photography but, also contain images of him and others who helped him, as well as some of the places in which he set up his photographic shots.
